| Wednesday, August 21, 2013 | 9:30 AM | Caregiver's Workshop | * Arbutus Meeting Room | Arbutus Branch | You can expect to learn about family caregiver resources within the community that are available to you. Being a Caregiver to an older adult and/or children can be a daunting task without the proper resources and support. You will learn how to leverage the support you already have around you as well as reduce, if not entirely eliminate certain stressors of care giving. If you are, or will be caring for an aging parent, have a child that needs some extra tender loving care, or have a sibling or friend that needs some assistance to get through the day, you are invited to attend one of the sessions. Spend some time learning about the resources available to you and gain some assistance on how to cope with the stress that comes with being a caregiver. After the workshop, participants will be able to: state what caregiver resources are available and how each may obtain the resources easily; identify and name specific stressors related to caregiver responsibilities and life situations, and develop techniques to prevent and reduce stress; personally define his/her own work/life balance statement. This workshop will be presented by the Baltimore County Department of Aging. Since this workshop is more of a wellness event for you personal benefitt, CEUs will not be awarded for attending. | Cancelled | |
